

KidSafe Email

Are your children exposed to danger through email?

As a parent, you are probably very aware of the dangers your children face when using the Internet. But did you know that children can be exposed to the same kind of dangers through email? Over 40% of email today is unsolicited email that is often obscene, inappropriate and even dangerous. Spam email includes undesirable content such as enticements to provide their private contact details, enticements to buy something, as well as pornography and destructive information. And not all dangerous email is unsolicited. Some of it could be from strangers your children have been in contact with. It is simply too dangerous to allow your children unrestricted access to the Internet or to email.

But email is the new form of communication

To a large extent, email has taken the place of mail. Your children need it to communicate with friends and family, but safely. It is important for them to gain a healthy appreciation of the Internet to help prepare them for their future. So how can you ensure that they only receive email from safe sources? KidSafe Email is a sure answer. We provide you with a filtering mechanism that blocks ALL email other than email from addresses that you have approved. ALL email is also Virus filtered to protect you and your family from email originated viruses.

How do I use KidSafe Email?

1. Complete and return the attached application form. We will then send you your access details.
2. Access the KidSafe website and enter the access details we provide you.
3. For each child, enter the email addresses that you want each child to receive email from, such as email addresses of known friends and relatives. Only email from these addresses will be allowed through to the child's mailbox. All other email will remain in a quarantine area awaiting parent review.
4. Parents can view the quarantined email for each child where they can:-
 - delete unwanted email.
 - approve selected emails and add the sender to the 'allow list'.
 - approve selected emails one time only.
 - block selected emails and add sender to the 'reject list', so that all subsequent emails from this sender will be rejected automatically.
5. Most of all; enjoy watching your children develop an understanding of the Internet without being exposed to unsolicited emails.
6. The KidSafe Email service can be used from any Internet service provider.
